

ONEONTA, N.Y. (November 8, 2018)—In October, Kathryn Murdock, MSN, RN, NE-BC, CMPE, and President and CEO of Progressive Primary Care Solutions, Inc., based in Oneonta, N.Y., was elected Director-At-Large for the Board of Directors of the American Nurses Association of New York (ANA-NY). Murdock was sworn into office during the ANA-NY 6th Annual meeting held in October in Albany, New York. The ANA-NY is an organization that represents the profession of nursing and is not affiliated or associated with any nursing union.

“I am honored to have been chosen to serve my profession in this capacity and look forward to working with the board to help advance registered nurses and the profession of nursing in New York State,” said Murdock.

Murdock believes that nurses north of New York City and nurses from settings outside the inpatient sector have been underrepresented in the past, and hopes to bring their voices to the table through her role with the ANA-NY. “It is an exciting time in healthcare with a lot of changes affecting nurses outside of the inpatient setting. Rural organizations and registered nurses working in the ambulatory setting are faced with unique challenges that need to be addressed. Our board this year is a diverse group of very talented nurses, and I look forward to working with them to address some of the challenges we see north of the city,” said Murdock.
